The authors of this article regret to inform the readers of Journal of General Virology that several collaborating individuals at the Technical University of Denmark National Veterinary Institute were not included in the author list. These collaborators contributed significantly to the sample processing described in the article, but did not see the manuscript in preparation. As a result, there are errors in the Methods section and consequent misinterpretation of results. The authors therefore retract this paper from Journal of General Virology in order to correct the manuscript for resubmission to a journal at a later date. The authors regret any inconvenience caused to the readers of the journal.
